Understanding the root of some problems can be difficult; fortunately, there are some troubleshooting tools to diagnose what's wrong with your Mac.. The Force Quit dialog, which you access with Command+Option+Esc, allows you to close misbehaving applications much like the Ctrl+Alt+Delete Task Manager in Windows.. Forcing a reboot or a shutdown is not advised unless there is no other option Performing these actions can result in data loss, especially if there are applications running or external storage devices connected.. This will bring up the Force Quit window showing a list of your open applications.. Choose one and press the Force Quit button to immediately end that application You can also force a hanging application to quit by right-clicking (CTRL + Click) on its icon in the Dock and choosing "Force Quit" from the context menu.. Hold down the CTRL and Option keys (located on either side of the space bar) then press the Escape key.. While Windows' Task Manager contains a wealth of information and features, OS X splits some of those features up into separate apps.. You should first try to correctly reboot or shut down the computer: The right way to reboot a Mac is to click Apple → Restart... The right way to shut down a Mac is to click Apple → Shut Down... We never like to have problems with our computers, right? However, some of them are inevitable.. Sometimes your apps don't work, your Mac gets slow, you see a spinning wheel of death, and more. 773a7aa168 Windows Xp Setup.Exe File - Download Free Apps
